OUR THEME

The Senior Class of 1955 has bound the pages of its yearbook together with the theme of symbols. Symbols have been defined as signs with something added. This little "something" has been known to stir up people to piety, heroism, joy, and terror.

The use of Christian symbols first began in the Roman Empire, since the early Christians could not, even in the catacombs, safely express themselves except in symbolic form. They had learned the great power of the symbol from our Blessed Lord, for He, Himself, relied heavily on symbols by which to teach His flock. He constantly referred to the great symbolic institutions, ceremonies, persons, and events of the Old Law, and incorporated symbolic substances and acts — water, bread, wine, anointing, pouring, eating, drinking — into the very imparting of divine grace.

Christians, however, do not have a priority over symbols. Countries too, use them. Our country's best known symbols are the flag and our National Anthem — symbols of our great land.

And so our theme is symbols, through which so much can be said and through which so much beauty and meaning can be expressed. May those we have chosen speak most eloquently for us of those great truths, great gifts of God, great models set before us that have formed the foundation for our lives.

Dear Kathleen,

I wish you all the luck in the future. I will never forget you and your wonderful smile. I'll pray for you and the wonderful vocation you have chosen.

There is only one priesthood -- Christ's priesthood. It was organized by Christ to enable the members of his Mystical Body to attain Heaven. The Sacrifice of the Altar is offered through and with the Alter Christus for the faithful. The functions of the priesthood are five-fold;
to offer, to bless, to preside, to preach,
and to baptize.

March 29, 1955

A cordial salute to the Graduates of Cathedral High:

Your Annual, outstanding in format and literary excellence, reflects scholarship and esprit de corps.

The theme of Christian symbolism threading through its pages reveals much research that uplifts mind and heart. Indeed, your own lives revolve around beautiful symbols. Strive for the counterpart, idealism.

Symbols stimulate thinking. The rational creature by virtue of his natural endowments symbolizes the love and goodness of God -- a visible emblem of something invisible.

My dear children, love God and thus possess your souls in peace.

Sincerely,

+ Charles F. Buddy

Dedication

In appreciation of you, Father Bergin, director, counsellor, and good friend, we, the graduating class of 1955, lovingly dedicate this, Cathedral's twelfth yearbook.

St. Joseph's Cathedral

1567 THIRD AVENUE
SAN DIEGO 1, CALIFORNIA

To the Esteemed Graduates of 1955
Cathedral Girls' High School

The signal success which has crowned your scholastic efforts has been richly deserved, and on the happy occasion of your graduation, I congratulate you most cordially.

The Class of 1955 has distinguished itself not only by its academic achievements, notable as they have been, but even more so, the Graduating Class will long be remembered for the fine sterling character of its members. You have exemplified all that is best in young Catholic woman-hood; you have been an inspiration to the lower class-men; you have been a lasting credit to your parents; a great joy to your devoted teachers, the Venerable Sisters of Saint Joseph, and a rich glory to the Cathedral.

It is the ardent prayer of the Cathedral Staff that the Holy Spirit of Wisdom enfold you and continue to guide you towards the eternal Commencement.

Devotedly yours in Our Lord,

WILLIAM A. BERGIN
Rector

*Dear Mary,
It's been fun

Juniors Eleven B

That September morning we entered Cathedral as juniors. This we felt, would be a big year and a new beginning. We had a good start, but the next year was even better. Early in the fall, the year was a great success for the varsity. Christmas came soon, and its wonderful spirit was everywhere. Instead of exchanging gifts, we sent all our presents to the orphans in Tijuana. In the afternoon we held on the feast of the Three Kings, Little Christmas!

A very important client was the patron drive. It was a fight to the finish. We didn't win, but we worked hard and ended with over a hundred percent.

This year will always be remembered by every girl. We worked, prayed and played together as the juniors of 1954-55.

Under the patronage of Our Lady of Guadalupe we reflect upon our sophomore year at Calaveras College. This year will have the appearance of a very interesting year. I did the orphanage in Tijuana. We shall always remember the entertainment at our Three Kings party. Raffleing off a parade of antique pictures, a treasury in a definitely historic building. The event hurried after event and then we had a look back upon an interesting year and now we look forward to the future. To the future of our school and to the future of our country.

SODALITY OF OUR LADY

Carole Rempe, Sodality Prefect, moves her class on the chart during the campaign for selling religious Christmas cards.

The Sodality of Our Lady conducted three major projects this year. The first was the campaign to "Put Christ Back Into Christmas." Besides making posters, sodalists enlisted the help of the entire school in the selling of religious Christmas cards.

In order to counteract the commercial and irreverent observance of Hallowe'en, Sodalists sponsored a Saints Alive party preceding the feast of All Saints. The beauty and cleverness of the "would-be saints" spoke well of the enthusiasm which this project created.

Most important of all, Sodalists endeavored to institute a real "flare" for Mary fashions. On the opposite page, Sodality officers model Mary fashions for all occasions.

THE THREE YOUNG LADIES WHO WERE SEATED AT THE TABLE
KINDLY RECEIVED THE VISITORS OF THE DEPARTMENT.

The Sacraments — All knowledge has been presented to us in the light of these seven channels of God's grace that we may learn to live more fully

RELIGION

Seniors apply what they have learned in religion to projects during American Education Week

The flag and Our Lady's statue represent the harmony of the Catholic educational principle: A Good Christian is a Good Citizen

Typing II students aren't even tempted to peek at the keys — or aren't they!

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

When it's a little cool for gym suits, square dancing fills the agenda

but more often, the neat maroon gym suits are donned, and after a bit of "limbering up", a lively game gets under way

MUSIC

Accompanists
Joanne Krejsa,
Jill Baltes (seated)
and Dora Jean Rudd, (standing), take
a bow.

There's music in the air! And that is more than just a song. Of first importance is the choir. Every student at Cathedral appreciates the beautiful singing for the A. S. B. Mass each week

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

The hard work in the auditorium makes possible the beautiful music for Masses, programs, Music Festival, recital, graduation.

In the inspiring setting of the Cathedral choir loft, the hours of practice reach full fruition.

PUPILS

Seated: Joanne Krejsa and Dora Jean Rudd, students of organ, show Patricia Kelly, Sharon O'Neill, Marie Basile, Marie Steinauer and Mary R. Chayer, piano pupils, that they can play very well on either instrument.

Sandra Lowenstein and Jill Baltes, piano students — Jeannette Gonzales, voice — Eleanor Hodges, organ — Virginia Bishop, violin and Theresa Masterman, piano, look through some volumes of the music library.

Carolyn Marie Rempe, seated, is the winner of the Bank of America Achievement Certificate in Fine Arts. As a student of piano throughout her four years at Cathedral, Carolyn has won distinction for herself in this field. Virginia Bishop, violin student, has generously shared her talent on a number of occasions for both student body and guest audiences.

ACTIVITIES

Extra curricular activities have kept students at Cathedral busy. The members of the Marian Year class gather to talk over the various meetings of the Marian Year class. The members of the College for Women.

Catholic Action -- not what we do, but what we are. The unity of the Christian hierarchy and the participation of the faithful. The Chi-Rho stands for Christ, the tiara for the Pope, the mitre for the Bishop, and the crowns signify the baptized, confirmed, and the ordained members of the Church. By the reception of these sacraments we are commissioned to the active apostolate to extend Christ's kingdom on earth

Original chapeaux highlighted initiation capers. Freshman ingenuity was fine — rewarded by refreshing "cokes" served by the seniors!

Below: The Saints Scored Again! Left to right, Yolanda Guerra recognized the most saints, Carolyn Wahl was most authentic as Pope St. Pius X, Connie Lingo was most beautiful as St. Cecilia, and Dora J. Rudd was judged best narrator.

His Excellency, Bishop Charles F. Buddy, begins the prayers at the foot of the altar on the occasion of the Fortieth Anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

Members of the choir and speech arts class presented a program for American Education Week.

Father Bertram awards a certificate to the pupils.

'55

It was like a new world in which the '55 Cathedral was introduced a world in which dummies and layout proportions and cuts, letter placement and headlines suddenly tumbled out of the dictionary to assist every writer in progress. Many extra hours were put in their intimate company and the sentiments of the staff were made as free as expression when the same members declared "I think I've a way, faster and simpler method."

Carol Higgs, photography editor, proves to Barbara Ohlfs and Sophia Oddo, literary editors, she has learned to take the pictures, too, as well as plan them.

SENIOR FAREWELL

The Senior symbol depicts the four years at Saint Joseph's Cathedral marked by the help and guidance of the Holy Spirit. Saint Joseph, our patron, is represented by the carpenter's square beneath the senior emblem. The square emblem is on our rings and on our sweaters. The lamp of knowledge burns a little brighter as we now complete our high school course.

Any attempt to express all that we feel toward Cathedral would be inadequate, but we do want to say that we are grateful for all Cathedral High has given us.

We want to thank the entire faculty for their patience and understanding, the Junior class for the beautiful prom, the Sophomores for their fine school spirit, and the Freshmen for the good sportsmanship they displayed during initiation. Thank you, Cathedral, and goodbye.
